

Mammography In Florida

A Consumer's Guide

August 2005*

*Facility listing information updated annually

Dear Consumer:

Welcome to the most comprehensive consumer's guide to mammography centers ever published for the state of Florida. Despite a remarkable increase over the past ten years in the number of women who are receiving mammograms, almost one million women over 40 in Florida have NEVER had a mammogram. We have co-published this guide with those women in mind, and to help all women select a mammography center that meets their individual needs.

All centers listed in this guide were certified by the American College of Radiology as of July 2005. Recognizing that the information in this guide changes often, we will maintain the guide on our web sites and update the information as we become aware of changes. To find the guide on the web, you can log on to www.cancer.org/floridammammogram.

Thank you for taking an important step in preserving your own health and please help us to make your family and friends aware of the importance of mammography.

Sincerely,

American Cancer Society
Florida Division, Inc.

Florida Medical Quality Assurance, Inc.

Mammography in Florida: A Consumer's Guide is the most comprehensive resource of its type in the state. The guide was developed by the American Cancer Society, Florida Division, Inc. with the assistance of Florida Medical Quality Assurance, Inc., the organization, which helps improve health care for Medicare recipients in Florida. The purpose of the guide is to assist the Florida consumers in selecting a mammography facility that best meets her individual needs.

How the information was obtained

Beginning in April 2001, and then again annually, an invitation to participate in this guide has been issued to all Florida mammography facilities certified by the American College of Radiology (ACR) as meeting the accreditation standards of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. Approximately 450 mammography centers were sent a letter, a survey and a postage paid reply envelope. Thirty additional surveys were completed by telephone interview.

Fifty-five mammography centers either indicated that they were no longer offering mammography or did not wish to participate. Military facilities, for example, declined to participate as their services are not available to the general public. Newly certified facilities that were not on the original ACR list also are invited to participate.

A total of 395 mammography facilities elected to be listed in this guide out of a total of 456 facilities that were accredited by ACR. This is an 84 percent response rate.

How to interpret the information in the Guide

The mammography centers are listed alphabetically by city.

Phone: The phone number listed in this guide is the correct number to call to schedule an appointment.

Fee: The charge for a screening mammogram consists of two x-ray views (i.e., pictures) of each breast. Reported fees include the charge for the radiologist's reading of the x-ray unless a "+" appears next to the fee. Fees vary considerably. The average mammography charge among facilities that include the cost of radiologist interpretation in the price is $106 with a range from $35 to $403. The average charge among facilities that do not include the cost of radiologist interpretation in the price is $42, with a range of $30 to $296. Costs are higher for diagnostic mammograms because additional views are taken.

Medicare: 97 percent of the facilities accept Medicare patients.

Medicaid: 79 percent of the facilities accept Medicaid.

Other languages: This notation indicates when interpretation assistance is available for patients who do not speak English. Spanish is the most common other language reported and is spoken at 69 percent of Florida facilities.

Extended hours: indicates that the facility is open at times earlier or later than 8:00 a.m. – 5 p.m. or on weekends. Call for precise times.

Public transportation: indicates that the facility can be reached by public transportation. Public transportation is available to 75 percent of the facilities listed in this guide. Call for specific route information.

Handicapped accessible: indicates that the facility can accommodate a patient who cannot assume standard mammography positions (i.e., standing).

Self refer: indicates that a woman can schedule a screening mammogram herself without a doctor's referral. 48 percent of facilities accept self-referrals for screening mammograms. Nearly three out of four of those facilities require the name of the physician to whom the report can be sent in the case of a self-referral, as indicated by the (*) in the guide.

Clinical exam: indicates that there is a designated employee to perform clinical breast exams for clients. 28 percent of facilities offer this service.

BSE Instruction: indicates that breast self examination (BSE) instruction is available. 85 percent of facilities offer this service.

Additional information:

- Eight facilities (2 percent) have on-site childcare available. This information is noted.
- Free parking is available at 99 percent of the mammography facilities listed in the Guide.
- The waiting period for a screening mammogram appointment varies considerably and depends on a number of factors such as location and time of year. On average, appointments can generally be scheduled within a four-week period.

The ABC's Of Breast Health

A Three Part Personal Action Plan

Part A: Mammogram

The most important part of your action plan is having regular mammograms. These simple x-rays are quick, easy, and safe. In fact, mammograms use less radiation than a dentist's x-ray. A mammogram can give you a big head start on treatment. You and your doctor may not feel a lump until it is the size of a pea. But a mammogram can find cancers when they are very small, often several years before a lump or change can be felt.

As you grow older, your chances of having breast cancer will increase. Almost half of all breast cancer occurs in women 65 and older; more than three-quarters of them occur in women 50 and older.

Part B: Clinical Breast Exam

You'll need to see your doctor or nurse for a clinical breast exam. All women in their 20's and 30's should have a breast exam as part of their regular health checkups at least every three years. After the age of 40, have a breast exam every year.

What makes a good clinical breast exam?

Every breast exam by your doctor or nurse should include:

- Taking a personal health history, including asking about any breast changes or problems, and taking a family history and asking about family members who have had breast cancer.
- Looking at your breasts while you are standing in front of a mirror with your hands pressing down on your hips.
- Examining the entire breast, up to the neck, into the armpit, over the center of the chest, and to the bottom of the rib cage.
- Examining the breast using a vertical strip (up and down) pattern to make sure that no breast tissue is missed
- Using different amounts of pressure to examine the breast (light, medium, and deep).
- Discussion your own breast health plan with you and showing you the proper way to examine your own breasts.

A thorough clinical breast exam can take up to 10 minutes. Talk to your doctor if you feel that your exam was incomplete or rushed.

Part C: Breast Awareness

You should become familiar with how your breasts normally look and feel so that if changes occur, you can report them to your doctor right away. You may choose to become familiar with your breasts by doing breast self-exams—checking for lumps, thickness, or other changes.

Ask your doctor or nurse to show you how to do the exam correctly. As a reminder, if you do breast self-exams, you should check each breast all over and include the armpit. Use your finger pads and move them in a small circular motion using different amounts of pressure. Look at your breast in front of a mirror to check for any changes in how your breasts look or for dimpling of the skin. Plan to examine your breasts at the same time every month. It won't take long. If you think you have found a lump or change, see your doctor. Most breast lumps are not cancer, but you won't know if you don't ask.

Begin your action plan now. We don't know how to prevent breast cancer. But we do know how to find it early, when the chance for successful treatment is greatest. Put your plan into action right away so you can continue living your life and enjoying your health.

10 Tips for Getting a Mammogram

- Yearly mammograms are recommended starting at age 40 and continuing for as long as a woman is in good health.
- Use a facility that either specializes in mammography or performs many mammograms (three to five) each day. Ask to see the FDA certificate showing that the facility meets high professional standards.
- If you are satisfied with the facility, continue to go there each year so that your mammograms can be compared from year to year. If not, take copies of your old mammograms to a new facility so they will have copies to compare.
- Mammogram costs, or a percentage of them, are covered by Medicare, Medicaid, and most private health plans. Call the American Cancer Society to find out about the availability of low-cost mammograms in your area.
- All mammogram facilities are required to send your results to you within 30 days and to contact you within five business days if there is a suspected problem. Call your doctor or the facility if you do not receive your results.
- Only one or two mammograms out of every 1,000 will lead to a cancer diagnosis. Ten percent of women may require an additional mammogram, but only eight to 10 percent of them will need a biopsy. Eighty percent of those biopsies will not be cancer.
- The procedure will require you to undress to the waist, but the facility will provide you with a wrap to wear.
- Don't wear deodorant, powder or cream under your arms – it may interfere with the quality of the mammogram.
- Only you and the technologist who positions your breast will be present for the mammogram, and most technologists are women.
- The entire procedure should take about 20 minutes and should include two views of each breast. The breast compression may cause some discomfort, which you can lessen by not scheduling a mammogram immediately before or during your period. Tell the technologist if you experience pain during the procedure.

Mobile Mammography Facilities

There are 18 mobile mammography facilities in Florida. Appointments are made at scheduled locations by calling the scheduling number of each mobile unit. Typically this is the number of the parent facility at which the unit is based.

The number of mobile mammography units in Florida has decreased by 50% in the past few years. This is due, in part, to challenges faced by these facilities, including vehicle maintenance, equipment calibration, and weather/geographical issues.
